NEW COMMISSIONER FOR RED CROSS

A change of officers of special interest to Red Cross workers and generally was made at the beginning of the year when Captain A. C. Adams replaced Mr. E. A. Corbett as Commissioner of the Alberta Division.

At the time of Mr. C. B. W. Adams' retirement from the work in November, 1926, Mr. Corbett was loaned to the Alberta Division by the Extension Department of the University to carry on the work of the Red Cross for the period of one year.

This term has now expired, and Mr. Corbett has returned to his own work at the University. Mr. A. C. Adams has now been appointed as his successor, with Headquarters at Edmonton.

Although having resided in Calgary for three years Mr. Adams is well known in Edmonton, and he is practised law for five years in the city, following his return from overseas' service. During that time he was active on the Executive of the Edmonton Branch of the Red Cross, and during his residence in Calgary held the position of Vice-Treasurer and Hon. Secretary.

After the removal of the Division Office to Edmonton Mr. Adams was appointed as Vice-Captain and Secretary of the Red Cross in the city, following his return from overseas' service. During that time he was active on the Executive of the Edmonton Branch of the Red Cross, and during his residence in Calgary held the position of Vice-Treasurer and Hon. Secretary.

USEFULNESS OF MAPS

People Are Realizing More and More Their Value

When the art of printing was first utilized for the publication of books a small proportion of the population in the various civilized countries of the world could read, and, in fact, it was a long time afterwards before people came to use books for their needs. Nowadays more books are being sold than ever before, but people buy them to read and not to use.

With better general education the demand for books is increasing, and it is equally true that one must learn to read a map and be able to use it just as one must learn to read words before the printed page is of any significance.

A map is not a word picture, nor is it a photograph, although it contains elements of both. Especially is this true of the topographic map, which is the most complete example of the map maker's skill and serves many purposes.

In the course of the natural and cultural features of any area, and the means of aiding development. Such a map shows the arable lands, industrial areas, forest areas, mine and water resources, and the means of aiding development.

Miss Gerrie Parrott Becomes Bride of Francis Mac

An event of unusual interest took place in the United Church on Thursday evening, January 5, when Miss Gerrie Parrott, of Ponchatone, was united in holy matrimony to Mr. O. H. Mac, of Delia, Alberta.

The bride was charmingly attired in white tulle and conventional veil, with orange blossoms, and was attended by her sister, Miss Esther Parrott. Mr. Thomas McKee acted as best man.

At 8 p.m. the bride appeared, escorted by her father, and the wedding march was being played. A large congregation joined in singing "The Voice that Breathed Our Lives." The ceremony was presided over by Rev. A. E. Whitehouse, the bride's father retired to the vestry to sign the register, during which time Miss Frances Leitch sang "God Bless the King," and the choir of the United Church, which last night sang the same song at the wedding.

The bride was Miss Gerrie Parrott, of Ponchatone, and the groom was Mr. O. H. Mac, of Delia, Alberta.

A reception was held at the home of the bride's parents, and a wonderful array of gifts bore testimony to the popularity of one of Ponchatone's favorites.

Mr. and Mrs. McKee will live in Delia, Alberta, and the good wishes of many friends will follow the newlyweds.
